DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 4-12 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in Paper No. 7.
2. Applicant's election of Figs.1 and 2, claims 1-3 in Paper No. 7 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C.102(b) as being anticipated by Newell '527.

The patent to Newell '527 discloses in Fig.9 a cleaning device comprising outer layers or strips of non-woven material 34 (col.7, lines 46-47) and an inner layer 30 of material that is also non-woven (see col.7, lines 37-39 and col.3, lines 26-29), the outer layers connected together (stitching shown in phantom in Fig.9) to maintain the inner layer therebetween and forming a sandwich structure.

With respect to the claims reciting that the material is "waste" material, such recitation is of no patentable significance. However, it will be noted that Newell '527 does teach that the inner layer of material could come from "waste" material (col.2, lines 24-26). Similarly, the recitation that the material is "inexpensive" in claim 1 has no bearing on patentability. Also, Newell's cleaning device could be used as a "yarn substitute".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Liloia '348.

The patent to Liloia teaches in Figs. 8 and 9 a diaper arrangement comprising a strip of absorbent (col.7, lines 1-3) outer non-woven fabric 29, 30 at least folded double at 38, 39 (col.7, lines 33-35) longitudinally and filled with an absorbent inner non-woven material 31 to form a sandwich material. See col.1, lines 50-59 and col.9, lines 62-63 for reference to utilizing non-woven materials instead of woven fabrics (e.g., cost). As for claim 2 specifically reciting an "elongate ribbon useful as a yarn substitute," a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963).

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The patents to Newell, Bolton, and Weichelt are pertinent to various cleaning elements.
